Sirin Mohammed al-Attar

Born in 1984, Sirin Mohammed al-Attar was a gynaecologist working for the UN agency UNRWA as well as a professor at the Islamic University of Gaza and a mother of three daughters. UNRWA remembered her for her generosity, deep love for her work and the care and affection she extended to her patients, offering unwavering support to them. "She was one of the best, most wonderful and most humane doctors I have met and dealt with," said the chief of the health program in Gaza. She was killed in her home with her daughter.
